

GP Referral Criteria – Wales

Guidelines for Fertility Assessment

- Couples should be advised to lead as healthy a lifestyle as possible while trying to conceive (see NICE Guidelines) including:
 - Limit Alcohol consumption to 1-2 units per week
 - Do not smoke
 - Ensure BMI is between 19 – 30.9 for the male & female partner
 - Have regular intercourse (every 2-3 days)
 - Men should avoid hot baths, saunas etc and wear loose fitting underwear
 - Men should take Vitamins A & E (recommended daily dose only), Zinc & Selenium (recommended daily dose only) and Vitamin C 1000mg daily. Inform of the importance of these nutrients in sperm production.
- For female recommend Rubella Antibody Screening plus Folic acid 0.4mg daily while trying to conceive and through first 12 weeks of pregnancy.
- If there is no pregnancy after 1 year of regular, unprotected intercourse, check luteal phase progesterone level (7 days before next expected period) and request a sperm function test.
- Both partners names and dates of birth must be provided at the time of referral

Suggested Referral Criteria to the Fertility Clinic

Female age	Referral details
Woman <36 years	Please refer after 2 years of regular unprotected intercourse, if progesterone and sperm function are satisfactory. Please refer after 1 year if progesterone or sperm tests abnormal or if there is suspected/known pathology.
Woman ≥36 years	Please refer after 1 year of regular unprotected intercourse and arrange Day-2 FSH, luteal phase progesterone plus sperm function test at the time of referral. Please be aware that the cut-off for NHS funding in assisted conception (IVF/ICSI etc) is age 42 for Welsh patients. Two cycles are available to those being treated before their 40 th birthday but only one for those aged 40-42. Please consider referring any woman or her partner with suspected/known pathology sooner.

Earlier referral would be indicated where there are clinical reasons for suspecting pathology, eg. oligo/amenorrhoea, previous pelvic infection/intra- abdominal gynaecological operations, PCOS or in the male - genital tract trauma operations or infection. Previous cancer treatment indicates early referral.

Man ≥55 years of age - Referral not recommended because of potential parenting problems. Including possible serious illness or death of the man before the child reaches maturity.
